Harnessing the Power of Purpose

8/13/2022
1 p.m.

Track:
Leadership/Culture

Course Level:
All Audiences

Location:
Lafayette 1/2

Today, the idea of a personal purpose at work – a “why” that guides our efforts and dreams – is coming into focus for many of the highest performing organizations in business. When organizations provide clarity of purpose, their team members find greater meaning in their work. This triggers higher motivation, efficiency, and ability to lead. As more and more companies have gained awareness of this powerful dynamic, they’ve implemented training and coaching programs that invite their managers to be thoughtful about their purpose. They’ve recognized that to be authentic leaders, managers, and team members they must be able to identify their own purpose. In this session with culture expert Kris Kuester, you’ll learn how to leverage this powerful concept of purpose discovery in your company. Kris will arm you with the tools needed to identify, clarify and launch your team into a world driven by powerful purpose that will deliver results for your business at the highest level!

Does your company provide exceptional customer service? If you answered, "yes", you're among the more than eighty percent of business owners who hold that belief. And that's great, right? Maybe. But when you consider that overall, only 8% of customers agree, something just doesn't add up. However, the prominence of shopper reviews gives virtually every business owner a new window into the pain points their business creates for their shoppers. Research shows that for every one complaint you receive, the issue at hand is impacting 4-5 other shoppers who didn't make a fuss, didn't leave a review, and also will never return to your business. Today's savvy business owners and leaders are leaning into the complaints, both in person and in store, and treating these as the powerful opportunities they really are. Want to join them? In this dynamic, action-oriented session with NMG's Mike Whitaker, in just 50 minutes you'll learn how to put your arms around your haters and turn them into some of the most powerful advocates your business could imagine. You'll learn how to effectively handle negative reviews, how to glean lessons from each, and how to equip and empower your entire team to be successful every single time they face an upset customer. You'll leave armed with a simple approach to diffusing any situation that's upset a client (Okay... any situation within reason...) with the insights to disarm the emotion and recover the experience. You, and your team, will NEVER feel helpless in these sometimes tense interactions again. It's simple, really. All we have to do is see the end of the world. Oh, and hug our haters. Learn how both can be a ton of fun!

As an Independent Retailer, it's often hard to see the full market outside your own operation. We know many things about our own businesses, but what do we know about the industry in our area? How much is being sold in our categories by the competition? What percentage of the market have we actually captured? This information is powerful, not only in helping understand the opportunity, but also in maximizing our return on investment across our marketing efforts. In this dynamic session with Mike Manthey and Cyrille Aragon, you'll discover how the PriMetrix Market reports - included in Your NMG Membership - can open new doors to enhancing your return on ad spend! Learn how to use these data-driven insights to make more tactical marketing decisions, target your best potential shoppers, and take your success to the next level!

Go "Over the Top" with OTT

8/13/2022
2 p.m.

Track:
Marketing

Course Level:
All Audiences

Location:
Suwannee 3/4

Did you know that by the end of 2022, an estimated 55.1 million U.S. households will have "cut the cord", meaning they've disconnected their cable or satellite service completely? It's true. This trend has led to the rapid emergence of OTT, or over-the-top advertising, as more and more people can no longer be accessed via traditional television programming. It's easy to understand why OTT is growing so quickly as an marketing vehicle, as some 70 million households in the U.S. currently use OTT services, including popular platforms like YouTube TV, Netflix, Hulu, Disney +, and many more. In this session, Kim will cover all the basics of OTT advertising, including the abilities it provides for very tactical, targeted messaging. You'll learn what to expect from a cost basis, and the difference between OTT and traditional video. Expect to leave knowing the benefits of OTT over cable, and with an answer to the most frequently asked question, "Is OTT replacing traditional TV?"

3 p.m.

Track:
Marketing

Course Level:
All Audiences

Location:
Lafayette 1/2

The debate is over. When it comes to marketing, video reigns supreme as the most effective way to connect with today's shoppers. So, why is it that so many businesses neglect this critical marketing vehicle? The answer for most is simple - content creation takes time, it takes money, and it takes a wealth of expertise. That is, unless your business is a Member of Nationwide! In this fun and interactive session with PrimeMedia Studios leader Kevin Bryant, you'll learn the impact video is making across the industry, and how you can leverage video for your business without the barriers of time, cash and without having to get a degree in video marketing! You'll learn how Nationwide has already made those investments, and how the resulting national quality assets created in the group's exclusive studios, just outside Atlanta, are yours for the taking. And, since Nationwide is covering the big investments of production, Kevin will teach you how to maximize your marketing dollars on the ad buy, getting your message in front of as many shoppers as possible. If you're looking to upgrade your marketing strategy to include great video content, this session could be your best investment of time at the show!

If you've been tuned into the ever-evolving conversation that is digital marketing and your digital presence, you may wonder if there are any real constants. It seems the conversation shifts as breakneck speed, sometimes changing daily! However, amidst the chaos, experts have never waived on the importance and impact of the blog. What the heck is a blog? And is it really something you, a business owner, should be spending time on? In short, for many small and medium-sized businesses that succeed online, their blog is a big part of the secret sauce. Consumers, and thus Google, place high value on original content, only found on a single website. Better still if the content is localized and relevant to the searches shoppers are conducting. In this session with communications expert and award-winning podcast host Rob Stott, you'll get an inside look at the ins and outs of how a blog can boost your business. Learn it all - from how to start a blog, to what kinds of content you should post, to the importance of showcasing your thought leadership. If you're ready to invest in your digital success on a path that's both friendly to the bank account and unique to you - this session is a can't miss!

Does your company provide exceptional customer service? If you answered, "yes", you're among the more than eighty percent of business owners who hold that belief. And that's great, right? Maybe. But when you consider that overall, only 8% of customers agree, something just doesn't add up. However, the prominence of shopper reviews gives virtually every business owner a new window into the pain points their business creates for their shoppers. Research shows that for every one complaint you receive, the issue at hand is impacting 4-5 other shoppers who didn't make a fuss, didn't leave a review, and also will never return to your business. Today's savvy business owners and leaders are leaning into the complaints, both in person and in store, and treating these as the powerful opportunities they really are. Want to join them? In this dynamic, action-oriented session with NMG's Mike Whitaker, in just 50 minutes you'll learn how to put your arms around your haters and turn them into some of the most powerful advocates your business could imagine. You'll learn how to effectively handle negative reviews, how to glean lessons from each, and how to equip and empower your entire team to be successful every single time they face an upset customer. You'll leave armed with a simple approach to diffusing any situation that's upset a client (okay... any situation within reason...) with the insights to disarm the emotion and recover the experience. You, and your team, will NEVER feel helpless in these sometimes tense interactions again. It's simple, really. All we have to do is see the end of the world. Oh, and hug our haters. Learn how both can be a ton of fun!

We can all agree that winning the attention of shoppers online has never been more important to your success as an independent retailer, but too often, too little is said about how challenging it can be to obtain those wins. After all, as a retailer, who has time to truly master the art of digital marketing? Today, most successful dealers aren't facing the challenge of marketing online alone, but it's still critical that you understand the basics of this important part of your business. In this session with digital veteran Tristian Bailey, you'll discover tips that will help you in all your digital marketing efforts. You'll get the inside track from getting started to understanding the data-driven lessons that can help shape your long term goals and plans. Regardless of your path to digital - doing it yourself, using an outside agency, or partnering with NMG - you'll find the insights Tristian shares both useful and valuable.

Leadership/Culture

Course Level:
All Audiences

Location:
Lafayette 3/4

Today, the idea of a personal purpose at work - a "why" that guides our efforts and dreams - is coming into focus for many of the highest performing organizations in business. When organizations provide clarity of purpose, their team members find greater meaning in their work. This triggers higher motivation, efficiency, and ability to lead. As more and more companies have gained awareness of this powerful dynamic, they've implemented training and coaching programs that invite their managers to be thoughtful about their purpose. They've recognized that to be authentic leaders, managers, and team members they must be able to identify their own purpose. In this session with culture expert Kris Kuester, you'll learn how to leverage this powerful concept of purpose discovery in your company. Kris will arm you with the tools needed to identify, clarify and launch your team into a world driven by powerful purpose that will deliver results for your business at the highest level!

As a leader, communication is the cornerstone of effective leadership. Without it, leaders alienate their people and often leave loose threads hanging. Objectives can be misunderstood, and employees progress and growth can grind to a halt. When feedback is conveyed and received regularly, engagement rises, productivity increases, and organizations become more closely aligned with the values that make them unique. With this comes the need for delegation and planning, allowing employees to development and thrive, showcasing their diverse talents.

It's no secret that retailers must spend money in marketing and advertising to get customers in their door. This spend comes in many forms, and so much of that spend is used on programs that Nationwide supports as a group. Everyone is aware of what today's market is like, especially when compared to the craziness of 2021, and it comes down to one simple truth - foot traffic is slower today than it was last year.

Nationwide retailers are spending money to bring customers in – and now more than ever, they need to maximize the purchases that customers are making. So just how does a successful warranty offering fit into the full Shopper Journey? You are invited to take a look at real cases of NMG dealers and their marketing spend and how we can use warranty to not only increase foot traffic, but to use profit to help offset the cost of customer acquisition.

In a thought provoking and practical presentation, Dr. Howard Fero, co-author of Lead Me Out to the Ballgame: Stories and Strategies to Develop Major League Leadership, will present the ten bases of leadership, based on over one hundred interviews he and his co-author conducted with current and former Major League Baseball players, managers, and executives. Through these stories the audience will learn how the strategies employed by some of baseball's great managers can be used not only in baseball but in all walks of life, to help them cultivate their leadership skills and become Major League Leaders. In this interactive presentation you will learn how Joe Maddon (Anaheim Angels) shows his passion, and how you can do the same; how Davey Johnson (former MLB manager) earned the respect of his players; how John Farrell (former MLB manager) manages a diverse clubhouse, how Terry Francona helped David Ortiz break out of a slump, and more.

You don't need to be a baseball fan to become a Major League Leader as the stories and strategies can be applied to all aspects of our lives, both personally and professionally. In this inspiring presentation audience members will be given examples to consider and will learn how the bases of leadership can be applied so that they can become Major League Leaders and coach their teams to success!

How do you lead? How do you communicate? How do you make decisions? Let's have some fun and figure out the answer!

Each of us has different tendencies which we rely on when faced with an issue or problem in our professional (as well as personal) lives, and these tendencies drive our decisions, our communication, our interaction, and our leadership in general.

In this hands-on, high energy, and fun session, participants will explore the strengths and value of their style and also explore some potential pitfalls that can occur when they use their style 'too much'! Together we will perform tasks related to our business and will see how we can thrive and also how we can get in the way of our own success. We'll work with colleagues who have similar styles and also colleagues who have different styles and figure out how to work best with each of them. Be prepared to move around the room as we have some fun and also identify important and practical take-a-ways that can be used to lead ourselves and our teams to even greater heights.

The workplace has changed, and so has workplace culture. In the post-pandemic workplace, employees expect more than just a paycheck – they want their work to be meaningful, and they want to feel valued for their contributions. In order to help team members understand the meaning and purpose behind their work, organization leaders must rethink their approach to employee experience. In this presentation, John Duisberg, Co-Founder of Cooleaf, will share 4 elements of a purpose-driven employee experience and tips on how to maintain a positive work culture for a successful future.

Course Level:
Beginner

Location:
Lafayette 1/2

For businesses, having a better understanding of how their employees are thinking, behaving and feeling - and why - is a key component of effective people management, necessary for improving processes and results across the entire organization.

Human Resources is the engine at the heart of people management. With core responsibilities including recruitment, performance management, employee engagement, development and wellbeing, having a knowledge of organizational psychology, or business psychology, can help those working in HR to improve their organization's performance, as well as their own.

In this presentation, we explore the ways in which a deeper understanding of organizational psychology can benefit HR, and how teams can leverage psychology to improve the employee lifecycle and drive business success.

At the last PrimeTime event, Nationwide hosted a delivery and installation roundtable, and in the months since, the table continues to grow! The high attendance and engagement at the show rendered broad agreement that those present wanted to continue the discussion. As a result, NMG established a monthly discussion group, meeting virtually, that was open to all who were in attendance. In the months since, it's expanded to all who have expressed interest.

In this session with NMG's Frank Sandtner, who leads these discussion groups, you'll hear the key findings from these collaborative sessions, as he condenses the 6 most popular discussion topics and the resulting best practices. Included will be compensation and incentive programs, delivery charges, handling delivery damages, team member retention, and measuring and driving productivity. If your company engages in delivery and/or installation, get on the fast track to the best ideas, best practices and deep knowledge for success in this important area of your business in this one-of-a-kind session.

There are many moving parts and pieces in acquiring talent in today's market, regardless of industry. Among the challenges employers face are crafting job descriptions that are legally compliant and relevant, marketing positions across multiple platforms, conducting the right mix of live and virtual interviews, asking the right questions, and finalizing talent assessments that accurately determine if a candidate is the right fit for the position. Then, there's execution of the background check, and that's all before we've even offered the position! Once those challenges are conquered and you've selected a candidate to hire, have you structured an effective onboarding process that integrates the needed training to set the new hire up for success? It's a long list of action items to assure you've covered all your bases and given both your company and your new team member the highest chance of success. Let Carmine guide you to the path SLN has chartered to assist you in workforce acquisition as this session proceeds. This all-new program offers a defined and documented process that lays out the steps from A to Z, giving you a clear journey from hiring to onboarding to training. This program is highly customizable to fit your needs, and you'll see it first-hand in this powerful session!

Over the past decade, data has taken the business world by storm. From predictive analytics to advanced key performance indicators, the insights that business intelligence is delivering are unprecedented. However, while the big boxes and national chains have invested in full teams of data engineers, for independents, this kind of investment remains one of challenge, both financially and in gathering a meaningful and statistically relevant pool of information. That's why, over the past 7+ years, Nationwide has invested in the development and launch of the PriMetrix program. The program, included in your Membership, carries no fee or cost, and provides you with access to a trio of powerful tools: PriMetrix Market, PriMetrix POS Benchmarking, and PriMetrix ART (Assortment Rationalization Tool). Each of these data-driven tools work to provide you with the information you need to maximize your opportunities in merchandising, pricing and margins, and marketing. In this session with veteran retailer and PriMetrix expert Mike Manthey, you'll learn how each of these tools can benefit your business, how to use them, and the results you can expect when you leverage data to refine your strategies. If you're looking to be better informed, armed to make the best decisions, and ready to take your business to the next level, this session is a perfect fit!

From the time we're babies, music plays a huge part in our lives. Music is all around us, from the grocery store to our favorite summer concert, to the latest hits streaming through our phones. Music is so ever-present, yet we rarely, if ever, think about what it takes to put a piece of music together. Now, it can be as simple as a single noisemaker or as robust as a 100-piece orchestra. The art of music has so many principals to showcase! It's a lot like business. In this encore performance with Kris Kuester, Doug Marsh, and yes, their guitars, you'll see how music can showcase everything from trust and teamwork to leadership and improved self-esteem. Confidence comes into play, as does a sense of purpose and mastery. Through it all, you'll see how we can all become more effective leaders and team members through the same basic musical principals. Oh, and there's a great chance you'll be singing along before you leave.

The emergence of digital, social and mobile technologies has been pushing traditional advertising and marketing for years. During the pandemic, digital advertising finally overtook traditional advertising as online shopping surged. Now more than ever, consumers research products and services online before purchasing. Even in brick-and-mortar stores, 82% of smartphone users look up reviews or information about the product they are planning to purchase. In this class, we will discuss the impact of this shift from print to digital advertising and the opportunities and challenges this presents. We'll also explore when combining digital and print advertising makes sense and how to determine the best mix of each.

The debate is over. When it comes to marketing, video reigns supreme as the most effective way to connect with today's shoppers. So, why is it that so many businesses neglect this critical marketing vehicle? The answer for most is simple - content creation takes time, it takes money, and it takes a wealth of expertise. That is, unless your business is a Member of Nationwide! In this fun and interactive session with PrimeMedia Studios leader Kevin Bryant, you'll learn the impact video is making across the industry, and how you can leverage video for your business without the barriers of time, cash and without having to get a degree in video marketing! You'll learn how Nationwide has already made those investments, and how the resulting national quality assets created in the group's exclusive studios, just outside Atlanta, are yours for the taking. And, since Nationwide is covering the big investments of production, Kevin will teach you how to maximize your marketing dollars on the ad buy, getting your message in front of as many shoppers as possible. If you're looking to upgrade your marketing strategy to include great video content, this session could be your best investment of time at the show!

Did you know that by the end of 2022, an estimated 55.1 million U.S. households will have "cut the cord", meaning they've disconnected their cable or satellite service completely? It's true. This trend has led to the rapid emergence of OTT, or over-the-top advertising, as more and more people can no longer be accessed via traditional television programming. It's easy to understand why OTT is growing so quickly as an marketing vehicle, as some 70 million households in the U.S. currently use OTT services, including popular platforms like YouTube TV, Netflix, Hulu, Disney +, and many more. In this session, Kim will cover all the basics of OTT advertising, including the abilities it provides for very tactical, targeted messaging. You'll learn what to expect from a cost basis, and the difference between OTT and traditional video.

Expect to leave knowing the benefits of OTT over cable, and with an answer to the most frequently asked question, "Is OTT replacing traditional TV?"

If you've been tuned into the ever-evolving conversation that is digital marketing and your digital presence, you may wonder if there are any real constants. It seems the conversation shifts as breakneck speed, sometimes changing daily! However, amidst the chaos, experts have never waivered on the importance and impact of the blog. What the heck is a blog? And is it really something you, a business owner, should be spending time on? In short, for many small and medium-sized businesses that succeed online, their blog is a big part of the secret sauce. Consumers, and thus Google, place high value on original content, only found on a single website. Better still if the content is localized and relevant to the searches shoppers are conducting. In this session with communications expert and award-winning podcast host Rob Stott, you'll get an inside look at the ins and outs of how a blog can boost your business. Learn it all - from how to start a blog, to what kinds of content you should post, to the importance of showcasing your thought leadership. Today's shoppers care about much more than just a product and a price. Now, more than ever before, they're also concerned about your brand's character and how your company impacts society. For many Independents, this is great news! Independently owned businesses have long been the foundational pillars of their communities, and the amount of community involvement engaged by independents is staggering! However, there is often a disconnect. In many cases, all the great community impact made by independent dealers isn't shared. And, as a result, shoppers are left searching, often moving on to another company that took the time to share their story. For dealers just like you, there's an answer, and it's easier than you might imagine. Join sought-after digital marketing expert Cyrille Aragon as he shares the opportunities you can realize when you share more than just promotional content via social media.
